1.4 Advanced Search

Advanced Search

Find Archival Descriptions in any repository that match all of these criteria:

in Any Field

Search ? Search tips Need more flexibility? Try Expert Search

Improvements to the advanced search interface were identified during Usability Testing and UX analysis of this feature.

Using a search phrase instead of disjointed drop downs.

Should be obvious to users now how this works. Next page shows what happens when user clicks on the drop downs in the search phrase.

1.4.1 Advanced Search 2

The screenshot shows the ArchivesCanada website's search interface. At the top, there are navigation links: Add, Manage, Import, Admin, Language, Quick Links, and Login. The ArchivesCanada logo is on the left. A search bar contains the text 'Sherlock' and a magnifying glass icon. To the right of the search bar are buttons for 'Search' and 'My List'. Below the search bar are links for 'Advanced Search' and 'Expert Search'. The main heading is 'Advanced Search'. Below it, a sentence reads: 'Find Archival Descriptions in any repository that match all of these criteria:'. There are two search criteria: 'Sherlock' in 'Name access points' and an empty search box in 'Any field'. A 'Search' button is below. Callouts explain: 'Archival Descriptions' includes Images, Sounds, Videos, and Texts; 'all' and 'any' are selection options; 'and', 'or', and 'not' are logical operators; and a list of repositories is shown under 'any repository', including Alberta Community Archives, Bateman Archive, Carr Institute Library, and Darius Museum.

When user types a phrase in the search field, a new row appears below it, this way, the user can enter any number of search terms in various fields.

The 3 layers show what happens when the user selects the drop downs in the intro sentence.

In the repository layer, the user should also be able to search so that he can jump directly to a repository without scrolling through the long list (especially important on Archives Canada)

Search tips are crucial to be linked here to help users understand the finer points of how they can search.

Following the Usability Testing and a UX analysis of how ICA-AtoM displays digital objects and their related descriptions, enhancements have been made to the UI.

This page shows how a digital object is presented as part of the archival description. Users can use the arrow buttons to browse to the next/previous digital object (if there are any)

Digital Object Metadata is hidden by default and can be revealed with the "show details" link

Admin View: If there is no digital object attached to an archival description, the archivist can upload a digital object. We reuse the same black area to emphasize where the new digital object will appear.

If the user wants to upload multiple digital objects as children of the current description, he can do so on the left in the tree:

UPLOAD button in tree starts the "Import Digital Objects" process. New descriptions will appear as children of the currently selected description.

The "ADD" button creates a new description underneath the current one (same as the ADD NEW button in ICA-AtoM 1.2)

The screenshot shows the ArchivesCanada website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for 'Add', 'Manage', 'Import', 'Admin', 'Language', 'Quick Links', and 'Login'. Below this is the ArchivesCanada logo and a search bar with a 'Search' button and a 'My List' button. The main content area is titled 'Charles M. Defieux collection' and includes a breadcrumb trail: 'ArchivesCanada > Institutions > Vancouver Maritime Museum Library'. A prominent heading reads 'Upload a Digital Object to this description', followed by the instruction 'Select an image, text, video or audio file from your PC or enter its URL.' Below this, there are two options: a 'Select File' button and a text input field containing 'http://', with an 'Attach' button. A note says 'Or simply drop it here in Firefox, Chrome or Safari'. Another heading reads 'Or add Digital Object(s) as children of this description' with the instruction 'Select up to 100 image, text, video or audio files from your PC.' A 'Help' link is also visible. On the left side, there is a sidebar with the 'Vancouver Maritime Museum Archives' logo and a list of collections, including '11th Gun Battalion fonds', 'Alan Austin fonds', 'Charles M. Defieux collection' (with sub-items: 'First Narrows Bridge', 'Miscellaneous', 'Visitors to Vancouver'), 'Barbara Ann Roberts fonds', 'Barbara McKenzie fonds', 'Belfry Theatre fonds', and 'Beryl Rowland fonds'. At the bottom of the page, there is an 'EXPORT' link.

Once the archivist has selected to import a digital object they are provided with an enhanced UI.

We will ensure that the uploaded items will be ordered correctly by alphabet, i.e. in the same order that the user intended.

The screenshot shows the Archivist's Interface for the Charles M. Defieux collection. At the top, there are navigation menus for 'Add', 'Manage', 'Import', and 'Admin', along with 'Language', 'Quick Links', and 'Login'. The main header includes the ArchivesCanada Logo, a search bar with a magnifying glass icon, and a 'My List' button. Below the header, the left sidebar displays the Vancouver Maritime Museum Archives logo and a list of collections, with 'Charles M. Defieux collection' selected. The main content area features the collection title 'Charles M. Defieux collection' and a breadcrumb trail: 'ArchivesCanada > Institutions > Vancouver Maritime Museum Library'. The primary action is 'Add Digital Object(s) as children of this description', which allows users to upload up to 100 files. Two options are available: 'Use filename as description title' (selected) and 'Set description title:'. A text input field contains 'image ##'. Below this, users can choose how children will be created, with options: Fonds, Subseries, Subfonds, File, Collection, Item (selected), Series, and none. A 'Select Files' button is present, along with a note: 'Or simply drop it here in Firefox, Chrome or Safari'. At the bottom, there is a link for 'Help' and an 'EXPORT' button.

History

The City of Vancouver constructed a maritime museum as its project for the British Columbia Centennial of 1958. In 1959, City Council established a board to administer the Maritime and City Museum. The Maritime Museum formally opened in 1960. In 1972, the Vancouver Museum and Planetarium Association took over the management and operation of the Maritime Museum. In 1974, the Maritime Museum designated the City Archives as its official archives, thus many research collections acquired by the Vancouver Maritime Museum have been transferred to the City Archives

We worked hard to make the tree on the left more usable than the current implementation. The main issue are the long archival description titles which currently wrap in 3-4 lines and make the tree unreadable. Our solution: when the user rolls over the tree with the mouse, the tree expands towards the right side of the screen.

Move button opens-up a UI to allow the user to select a new location for that archival description. Unlike the 1.2 version, this function no-longer sends the User to a new screen.
